Event Planning and Management

With online training in Event Planning and Management, you will learn to design, plan and coordinate various events. From weddings to international conventions, including charity events (fundraising campaigns) and festivals, you will be able to use your creativity, your organization and management skills, your versatility, and your ability to work with different people. In the field of event planning, the team does everything with one goal in mind: ensuring that the event will be a true and unique success!

The online Event Planning and Management program is designed for event and communication enthusiasts. Do you like working in the field? Do you dislike routine? Are you sociable? Do you have strong organizational and leadership skills and adapt well to irregular work hours? This program is for you. The dynamic world of events will open its doors to you!

Training Objective

- Be able to design, plan and coordinate various events: from weddings to international conventions, including charity events (fund raising campaigns) and festivals.
- Leverage creativity, management, and organizational skills, versatility, and the ability to work with various stakeholders.
- Understand teamwork and working together for a common goal: offering unique and successful events.
